

INTRODUCTION

DARRYL BELLAMY JR.

It is with my distinct honor to introduce to you, this (morning's/afternoons) speaker, Darryl Bellamy Jr - @BellamInspires in Instagram (pause)

Darryl lives in Charlotte, North Carolina and is a Corporate America dropout who quit his job over two years ago to write his first book Waking Up Chase and speak to thousands of students just like you fulltime.

While in undergrad Darryl was heavily involved on campus as an RA, Orientation Counselor, SGA, on campus workshop facilitator, as well as a proud brother of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

So here's a question for you – what fears are holding you back? (pause, look up at audience)

After collecting and reading over (ask me for the number) written fears as of today, Darryl is now considered an expert on the topic of student fear. The first time he asked students to write their fears; He was taken aback by their rawness and transparency, inspiring him to find his true calling by solely focusing on ensuring you can overcome your fears to get everything you dream.

Darryl is big on energy - so smile, nod, and look interested even if you'not – even though you will be! It is my distinct pleasure that I fearlessly introduce to you for the first time at (school name), but not the last, Mr. Darryl Bellamy Jr.

Updated 8.15.2018