Are you ready? (pause) I can't hear you. better!	Are you READY? (pause) Okay, that's

Kevin Snyder has travelled the world presenting over 1,000 motivational presentations to over half a million people in all 50 states and numerous countries. He has his own TEDx talk, he lives on a sailboat, and is a game show winner on The Price is Right. (Kevin even named his dog after Bob Barker.) Kevin is also the author of several books and each of you gets a free copy... cool huh?

Kevin attended college at the University of North Carolina where he barely earned a degree in marine biology. Nearly dropping out several times, he battled academics, fitting in, depression... even getting arrested.

Kevin didn't start smart, but he did finish strong. Through his struggles, Kevin dicovered his strengths. His turning point came when he realized his setbacks offered lessons that helped him unlock and realize his true leadership potential. Those principles are what he believes will help you become unstoppable and he'll be sharing them today.

Keep your phones out to tweet, snap and post comments and pictures and get ready to experience one of the most entertaining, inspiring, empowering, funny, thought-provoking, engaging, funny, motivational and interactive presentations you'll ever see.

Please give a loud, awesome welcome to our speaker, THE Kevin Snyder!
